"Meeting F. Scott Fitzgerald" to be presented at the San Bernardino Public Library

The San Bernardino Public Library will present a return performance of "Meeting F. Scott Fitzgerald", a one-man show featuring actor and writer Larry Vanderveen on Saturday April 25, 2015 at 3:00 P.M. This free performance will be in the Bing Wong Auditorium at the Feldheym Central Library at 555 W. Sixth Street in San Bernardino.

"Actor and writer Larry Vanderveen assumes the role of legendary novelist F. Scott Fitzgerald in a powerhouse one-man show exploring the life and times of the man who penned such classic American novels as The Great Gatsby and This Side of Paradise. From his troubled relationship with devoted wife Zelda, to his later romance with Hollywood gossip writer Sheilah Graham and his complex friendship with acclaimed author Ernest Hemingway, this rich and textured exploration of Fitzgerald's eventful life allows literature fans the unique opportunity to look into the mind of the man responsible for some of the greatest literature of the 20th Century"…Jason Buchanan, New York Times.

Larry Vanderveen is a writer, stage and screen actor, and also a radio broadcaster. He was the recipient of the Pacific Pioneer Broadcasters Diamond Circle Award for significant contributions to the development of broadcasting. Vanderveen also founded the National Leukemia Broadcast Council to raise funds to fight Leukemia and received the Leukemia Society of America's Damashek Award for outstanding service toward the conquest of Leukemia.
