

San Bernardino Public Library Hosts a Writing Workshop for Kids & Teens

In preparation for November's National Novel Writing Month (NaNoWriMo), the San Bernardino Public Library will be hosting free writing workshops for kids and teens, ages 7-17, starting on Monday October 6th. These free workshop/writing sessions will be at the Feldheym Central Library in Kellogg Room A from 4:00-5:30 every Monday from October 6th through November 24th.

National Novel Writing Month's Young Writers Program is a nonprofit literary crusade that encourages aspiring young writers all over the world to write a novel in a month. On Nov. 1, more than 25,000 kids and teens worldwide will begin a furious adventure in fiction. By Dec. 1, thousands of them will be novelists!

NaNoWriMo is the largest writing event in the world. It's a fun, seat-of-your-pants writing event where the challenge is to complete an entire novel in just 30 days.

The word-count goal for the adult NaNoWriMo program is 50,000 words, but the Young Writers Program (YWP) allows 17-and-under participants to set reasonable, yet challenging, individual word-count goals.
